Men Love Sex and Relationships was first offered in 2007 and grew out of several requests for talks and workshops on men's issues, marriage and mid-life. The workshop format combines input, discussion and opportunities for personal reflection. Participants will not be required to sing, dance, rub red ochre on their bodies or disclose personal material they would prefer to keep private.

For more information, including the background paper to this workshop and comments of previous participants, see www.noelgiblett.com.au/services-workshops-mlsr.php
